Vision

As a network of highly qualified small management consultancies, we aim to provide the most competitive strategy consulting services to internationally operating clients.

Independent Management Consultancies Network IMCN

European

Professional

Personal

European because

- IMCN members offer extensive expertise as regional specialists from different European countries.
- They all have working experience in different countries; speak several European languages and are able to lead cross-border projects and multinational/multicultural teams.
- Our network offers access to the very latest market information and industry surveys within Europe.
- The IMCN cooperates with carefully selected professionals from all over the world.

Professional because

- Every consultant within IMCN has many years of professional experience, resulting in a consistently high standard of work.
- All IMCN members offer the highest quality of consulting, covering all your requirements and ensuring a successful outcome.
- Members work together on assignments and meet regularly to discuss the latest issues and develop their practice.
- All IMCN members are carefully selected, and pledge to the «Code of professional conduct» of FEACO (European Federation of Management Consulting Associations).

Personal because

- All IMCN members are consultancies where the managing partner (CEO) usually leads no more than 20 qualified and experienced consultants.
- The IMCN vision is based on the understanding that effective and satisfactory consulting is derived from having confidence in the personal relationship between client and consultant.
- The IMCN draws on the strengths of its experts to offer effective consulting according to individual needs.
- A relationship with an IMCN consultant opens the door to further business relationships and to a wider network of professional services.
- The consultant you work with ensures you receive the best value from the network.

Independent because

- All IMCN member companies are privately owned and financially independent.
- The IMCN is managed with a minimum of administrative overheads.
- The entrepreneurial and free spirit of the IMCN consultants means you have access to a quality source of innovative and practical improvements.
- The consultants who visit you are the people you will work with. They are committed to remain in the project for the duration of the assignment.
